Carrie March

Senior Associate

◉ Cambridge

What can Carrie do for you?

Carrie is an experienced employment solicitor dealing with a vast range of employment matters such as drafting contracts, advising on complex business reorganisations and employment tribunal litigation, as well as supporting businesses with disciplinaries, grievances and performance management. Carrie regularly provides advice on the employment aspects of business and property transactions.

Supporting your ambitions

Carrie is known for her attention to detail, whilst maintaining a commercial oversight on how best to navigate through business changes and disputes. She provides clear and timely advice and keeps clients up to date and involved with their legal matters and informed of any recent employment law developments.

Carrie is quick to adapt, responsive and cuts through the legalities to ensure clients understand the steps needed to achieve their aims.

What else should you know?

As a mother to two young boys, Carrie has regular first-hand experience in dealing with unreasonable behaviour and keeping calm in the chaos. In her spare time Carrie enjoys socialising with friends, surfing and sleep.
